SPIER TOOK HIS OWN LIFE, POLICE SAY; DROP CASE

Coroner, However, as Well as Family and Friends of the Young Financier Convinced that He Was Slain by Burglar.

MANY STRANGE POINTS IN CASE NOT YET CLEARED

Victim Had Just Taken Out $75,000 Life Insurance Which Will Be Paid to His Estate—Family Say Bulldog Was "Gun Scared."

While the widow, the relatives and the friends still declare that Charles L. Spier was slain by a burglar in a hand-to-hand struggle at his home in New Brighton, S. I., Sunday night, the police, abandoning the search for the murderer whom they say never existed, are to-day openly voicing the suspicion they entertained almost from the very first.

They now say that, judging solely by the available facts, the right-hand man of Henry H. Rogers and agent of the Standard Oil interests committed suicide as the climax of an elaborately arranged scheme which would make it appear he had died by the hands of a thief.

Paid Up His Insurance.
Coroner Cahill, who holds strongly to the belief that Spier was murdered, started across the bay for Manhattan late this afternoon with a detective. He seemed to be in a great hurry.

"When I come back to-night," said Cahill, "I may have something important to give out in regard to this case." The last business act of Spier's life was to pay the premiums upon two life insurance policies, aggregating $75,000. On Saturday afternoon he handed to John T. Boone the cash due on first payment on the second of these policies and took up the notes which he had given Boone, as agent of the New York Life, when the insurance was first written.

To be sure there were no suicide clauses in these two policies, they were payable on death by any cause. But the fact that Spier was so soon after completing the formalities which made this insurance good and valid beyond quibble is held by Police Inspector Grant to be strongly substantiative of his theory that Spier killed himself.

It appears that Mrs. Spier knew nothing of this new insurance. She still believed to-day that her husband's only insurance was a $25,000 policy in the Equitable. This belief was shared by a sister of the dead man. Neither of the bereaved women had been told, apparently, that Spier let the Equitable policy lapse nearly a year ago.

Then, too, developments to-day show that Spier had an outstanding judgment in bankruptcy against him and others for $9,570 in favor of the Mercantile.

RAINEY BUYS FLEET DE MUND FOR $45,000

With One Exception Price Is Highest Ever Given for Two-Year-Old.

BY T. O. PIPER.

(Special to The Evening World.)

RACE TRACK, JAMAICA, N. Y.

May 8.—As a prelude to the racing to-day there was an incident in the paddock between two millionaires which resulted in one making out his check for $45,000, while the other said, as he tucked the check into a full, fat wallet: "I congratulate you, sir, on owning the fastest two-year-old in this country."

The former was Paul Rainey, who has entered the racing game with a sack of money to buy the best for sale in the thoroughbred line.

The latter was Newton Bennington, who disposed of his great two-year-old, De Mund, the most talked of two-year-old in the East. De Mund has worked a half mile in less than 46 seconds, the fastest trip for the distance ever recorded for a thing of four legs.

De Mund has also won a race, and in such fashion as to stamp him at once as the best colt of the season. He is engaged in the Futurity and other valuable stakes. This price paid is the highest ever given for a two-year-old in this country, with the single exception of Nasturtium, for which the late William C. Whitney paid "Tony" Ashe $50,000.

A few minutes later, Mr. Rainey parted with $25,000 as though engaged in a transaction of lesser note. He paid that sum for the great Western two-year-old, Horace E., owned by Barney Schreiber. The negotiation was effected through an agent of Mr. Schreiber, who gave Mr. Rainey a guarantee of the condition of the colt.

Horace E. is a winner, having shown his heels to the best in the West. The colt will be brought East.

EARTHQUAKE IN CONNECTICUT

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 8.—East Hampton, State, was shaken by an earthquake early to-day.

Windows were broken, one building was demolished, clocks were stopped and many of the inhabitants were thrown from their beds.

Everybody was awakened by the clatter of breaking glass and china and the crashing of overturning furniture. With the money of the San Francisco disaster fresh in their minds the people had no doubt about the nature of the disturbance. Without waiting to dress they swarmed from their houses into the biting morning air.

Many made for the open fields in wild terror.

It is generally agreed that there was but one shock, passing from southwest to northeast, but the direction of the tremor cannot be verified, as there are no seismographs in East Hampton.

If the tremor agitated New Haven nobody felt it. Difficulty in securing telephonic communication with settlements in the vicinity of East Hampton indicates that the quake might have extended over a considerable expanse of country.

The shock was felt at 12:30 o'clock, as indicated by the clock that stopped at that hour. It lasted only a few seconds.

Mrs. M. C. Wall reports that dishes were broken in her home and several panes of glass were forced from the windows. An out-house on a farm near the village was overturned.

This is not the first time that earthquake shocks have been felt in this section of Connecticut. Three years ago there was quite a severe shock in the neighborhood of East Hampton.

Middletown, the largest city in the vicinity of East Hampton, did not feel the quake. Earth tremblings in the area affected are generally restricted to a small section.

East Hampton falls in line and reports a slight shock to-day. Horace E. and De Mund, the two-year-olds, were in the neighborhood of East Hampton at the time.

Giants: Marshall, c.; Browne, 1b.; Donlin, 2b.; McGinnity, 3b.; Mertes, 4b.; Dahlgren, ss.; Bevilin, 5b.; Gilbert, 6b.; McGinnity, p.; McElroy, m. O'Day.

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.

WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN.

May 8.—The fatherly Giants went in to give Brooklyn a good thrashing for their impudence of yesterday. Patsy Donovan, however, got the bristles up in his back and said there would be nothing doing. He was ready for any kind of a fight the Giants put up, and the crowd was, too. McGraw appeared in uniform to-day and worked at second during the practice as if his leg had never been injured.

Ames was selected as pitcher for the Giants, but McGraw is never certain until after the warm-up.

Donovan decided on McIntyre, and the long, tall fellow with the catapult speed got ready. Brooklyn felt very cheery over yesterday's affair, and the natives came from every quarter to see their home take some more starch out of the champions. The bright, sunny day brought out 5,000 people.

First Inning.

Browne started with a short fly to Lumley. Donlin died on a grounder to Alperman. Casey made a pretty play in grabbing McGraw's bounder with one hand, nailing the captain. NO RUNS.

Casey opened up for Brooklyn with a clean drive into right for a single. Batch tried to bunt, but failed. Casey tried to make up for the failure by peeling second, but died in the attempt. McGinnity threw Lumley's grounder over McGinnity's head and it was good for two bases. Jordan's long fly to Mertes was easy, and the side quit. NO RUNS.

Second Inning.

Mertes popped a high foul to Ritter, but Dahlgren was more luckier and walked. Devlin was likewise favored and walked. McIntyre replaced Scammon. Dahlgren walked, forcing in Donlin. Two more scored on Devlin's single. Gilbert fled out. Three runs.

Casey, Batch and Lumley out, easily. No runs. Sixth Inning—Marshall fled to Lumley. McGinnity fanned. Browne walked. Hummel threw out Donlin. No runs.

Jordan out. Ritter walked. Hummel singled. Alperman singled. Maloney singled, scoring Ritter. McIntyre out. One run.

Third Inning.

Marshall slashed a clean single into left as a sacrifice. Browne got a base on balls. Donlin drove a long fly to Maloney and got runner on. Casey drove the throw. McGinnity then retired the side with a grounder to first. NO RUNS.

Mertes evidently misjudged Scammon's long fly, for it got over his head and was good for two bases. Casey drove a single to right, but Scammon stopped at third. Batch popped a high foul to McGinnity. Lumley's short fly was allowed to fall safe between McGinnity and Browne and Jordan scored. Hummel was out stealing second. THIRD RUN.

Fourth Inning.

Alperman threw out Mertes. Dahlgren raked a long one into left for a double. Devlin went out in a remarkable manner. He popped the ball high in the air, and it looked like a foul. Ritter ran toward the grand stand to get it, when Scammon the ball, and fell far a foot in front of the plate. Devlin, also taking it for a foul, made no attempt to run and was thrown out at first. Gilbert drew a base on balls. Marshall fled on a long fly to Maloney. NO RUNS.

Devlin's wide throw pulled McGinnity off the bag, and Alperman was safe at first. Mertes was forced out at second on a grounder to Dahlgren. Maloney was thrown out stealing second. Scammon died on a grounder to Gilbert. NO RUNS.

BRIDEGROOM GOT BAIL JUST IN TIME FOR HIS WEDDING

Freeman and His Best Man Arrested
On Embezzlement Charge a Few Hours Before Ceremony at Little Church.

BEST MAN STAYS IN JAIL TO OBLIGE HIS FRIEND.

Hopes to Be Free in Time for the Wedding
Supper—Both Are Lumber Merchants, Nabbed on a Telegram from the West.

A wedding planned to take place this afternoon at the Little Church Around the Corner at 5 o'clock was effectually enveloped in gloom by the arrest shortly before the appointed hour, on a charge of embezzlement, the bridegroom-to-be and selected his best man. Between them they managed to scrape up $5,000, which was sufficient to operate as bail and allow the male principal in the event to break all records from the Centre Street Court to the edifice made famous by so many sensational weddings.

Victor Freeman, of No. 209 West One Hundred and Eighth street, had planned as he explained to Magistrate Wahle and the detectives, to marry the prettiest girl in New York at 5 o'clock.

Rufus A. Evans, of No. 335 West One Hundred and Eighth street, Freeman's business partner, had been selected as best man. While Evans was compelled to remain in the Tombs during the ceremony, because of his yielding up to his partner every cent he could command, he professed to be hopeful of getting out in time to partake of the wedding supper.

Telegram from Chicago.

Freeman and Evans are in the lumber business, with an office in the Whitehall Building, No. 11 Battery place. Shortly before noon Inspector McLaughlin received a telegram from the Chief of Police of Chicago requesting him to arrest the lumber merchants on a charge of embezzling $10,000. There were no particulars in the telegram.

Detective-Sergeants Howard, Hennessy, Cronin and Schoenfeld were assigned to round up the men desired. They had no difficulty in doing so, but the prisoners almost fainted away when they were under arrest.

"You can't arrest me," cried Freeman. "Why, I'm going to be married at 5 o'clock. I've GOT to be there."

RAID PRISONERS HELD.

Five Prisoners Taken in Alleged Pool-rooms Give $500 Bail.

The five men arrested yesterday in a raid on an alleged pool-room at No. 248 Lafayette street were arraigned in the Tombs Court today and held by Magistrate Wahle in $500 bail each for examination on May 11.

The raid was made on "John Doe" warrants secured by the detectives of the society headed by the Rev. Dr. Cortland Myers, of Brooklyn. In court Lawyer "Dan" O'Reilly, for the prisoners, insisted that the detectives who made the raid pick out the men for whom the warrants were intended. The detectives refused and the four men and the fifth was surrendered by Lawyer O'Reilly.
